Golden West Helps Expand Anti-Burglary Program

This week Golden West Savings and Loan Association announced its participation in a Monterey Peninsula anti-burglary program called Operation Identification.

Operation Identification is a citizen-generated program that was introduced locally nearly two years ago by the Independent Insurance Agents of the Monterey Peninsula to help cut down the rising rate of home burglaries. It is being implemented with the full support of all local police departments. Golden West reports favorable experience with the program in Hollister and Daly City, California, as well.

Under the program, engraving tools are made available to citizens, who use them to place identifying marks on their valuables. Citizens are also provided stickers to place on their doors or windows, informing would-be burglars that the valuables are marked, and therefore easier to trace and harder to dispose of.

Operation Identification was first instituted nearly 10 years ago in Monterey Park. Results there have been dramatic. The 6,000 homes which have not participated in the program have suffered 2,000 burglaries since 1963, but only 20 burglaries have been recorded among the 5,000 homes that do participate.

The Monterey Peninsula insurance agents have purchased a few of the engraving tools and are currently making them available through local police departments. Borrowers can also pick up stickers and inventory forms to help record the valuables marked.

Starting immediately, tools will also be available at no charge to any interested parties visiting at Golden West's branches in the Del Monte Center and at 561 Lighthouse Avenue in Pacific Grove. Inventory forms, door and window stickers, and other materials are also available at no charge to Golden West customers and non-customers alike. Among the other materials available are booklets offering tips on how to foil burglars, which were written by a once-successful burglar who knows what he's talking about.

Besides more than doubling the number of Operation Identification engraving tools available to the Peninsula public, Golden West's participation in the program also insures added public impact, since the company is featuring the program in its radio and newspaper advertising, and in mailings to community action groups throughout the area.

Funds to Fight Alcoholism Allocated

Governor Ronald Reagan announced that California has received a $2.4 million federal grant as part of his state plan to combat alcholism. $23,360 has been allocated for Montery County.

The governor's plan, including the grant, has been approved by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Governor Reagan said more than $2.3 million of the grant will be allocated to 40 of the state's 58 counties. The counties receiving funds have submitted their own plans to fight alcoholism that have been approved by the state.

The governor said the funds would be made available to the counties for use July 1, 1972 and thereafter.

Governor Reagan's plan provides a basic framework for the statewide comprehensive planning for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of alcohol abuse and alcoholism. It provides the guidelines for county planning agencies to administer their plans for the integration of private, voluntary and public prevention, treatment and rehabilitation services in the local community.

The Human Relations Agency will coordinate the statewide program.

New Emporium Opens Tomorrow

OPENING - This beautiful Emporium store will open tomorrow in Northridge Shopping Center in Salinas.

At 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, The Emporium will add its distinguished name to the Salinas Valley commerical world as it opens its new six and one half million dollar three story department store on a 55 acre site at the corner of Boronda Road and Highway 101.

Jack Barnes, Mayor of Salinas, will join Peter Orlando, Store Manager in cutting the ribbon which will officially open the store.

Among the dignitaries present will be Ardern R. Batchelder, Chairman of The Emporium Capwell Company Division of Broadway Hale Stores, Inc., along with Robert G. Wilhelm, President of The Emporium Capwell Company and Charles A. Haine, General Manager of The Emporium.

Representing the City of Salinas will be Burt Risser, President, and Les Dabritz, Executive Vice President from the Chamber of Commerce, with Jim Duffy, Acting City Manager, and Warren Church, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors. Gregor Peterson, President, and Jack Taylor, Executive Vice President, will be representing Sutter Hill Development Company of Palo Alto, co-developers of the property along with Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee.

Ninth suburban store in The Emporium chain, the 179,000 square foot store has 135,000 square feet of selling space on two floors linked with escalators with clear glass side panels and a passenger elevator. The interior will have an emphasis on individual "Boutique" departments with different color schemes defining each area.

Visitors to the center will find convenient parking for over 3,500 cars adjacent to The Emporium building. The site will be completely landscaped with hundreds of trees and shrubs, including the Monterey pine, evergreens, elms, silk oaks, with English ivy and junipers.

Major departments include men's women's and children's apparel, home furnishings, shoes, housewares, bedding, sporting goods, appliances, and numerous specialty services including a beauty salon.

The store will be a part of the largest retail complex between San Jose and Santa Barbara. Phase I on construction, containing a total of 55 acres will have more than 600,000 square feet of retail space in a fully enclosed mall with Teh Emporium, Penney's (due to open in October 1972) and 50-60 specialty shops. Future plans allow for a third major department store and additional retail space totaling over one million square feet on the fully developed 80 acre parcel.

The site of the store was formerly called "Home Ranch" owned and farmed by members of the Christensen family for more than 50 years.

Andrew Christensen originally bought the land in 1916 from Gus Anderson (who acquired it from the Jacks family in 1900) to provide income for his family in farming wheat and beans.

In 1924 a water well was dug on the land which provided irrigation for the first strawberries ever grown in the Salinas Valley. The "Home Ranch" was farmed in later years by Walter, Harold, and Andy, Jr., under the name of the Christensen Brothers. The land was acquired by Sutter Hill in 1969.

Employment figures for The Emporium total 350 persons with approximately 95 percent drawn from Salinas and the surrounding communities. The sales staff will be 250, with 70 in sales supporting areas, along with a group of 30 executives.

Building was under the direction of O.W. Litsinger, with Paul J. Berry and Harry G. Evans of The Emporium Capwell Company. Clyde Whitlow was project architect for Welton Becket and Associates, and Marvin Davis Superintendent of the construction for Dinwiddie Construction Company.

Architects for Northridge Center are James W. Foug of James W. Foug & Associates of Mountain View. Contractors for the center are Ernest Hahn Company of Hayward, and Landscape Architect is Robert W. Adsero of Mountain View.

Camacho Endorses McGovern

Julian Camacho, candidate for Congress in the 12th Congressional District, issued the following statement recently at a fund-raising reception at the Monterey home of Mrs. Jane Campbell. The affair was to raise funds for the travel expenses of McGovern delegates from Monterey County:

"I am announcing my endorsement of Senator George McGovern for the Democratic nomination for the office of President of the United States.

"I am endorsing Senator McGovern because I feel that he offers the American people the only chance they have to regain moral and legal control of th d trol of the destiny of the nation. In state after state, in most of the primaries in which he ran, including our own here in California, Senator McGovern has proved that he is the candidate the rank and file voters of our party wants to run against Richard Nixon in November.

"On the vital issues facing our nation today . . . the war, tax reform and jobs, George McGovern offers the most hope for a nation that has had too much of an immoral war; to much of a tax structure that leans heaviest on those who can afford it the least and too much of listening to politicians saying that a five percent unemployment rate is good for the country.

"George McGovern feels as I do: that YOU are the country! Is the war in Southeast Asia good for you, your sons and the sons of your neibhbors? Is a five percent unemployment rate, coupled with runaway inflation rates, good for you? Senator McGovern says "No!" And I agree. The means to put a stop to the war, to end widespread unemployment, and to give leadership in the task of reforming taxes, is available to the President. But that office, if it is to carry out the mandate of the people, must be occupied by a man with the imagination and the courage to act in the interest of all the people.

"We must leave Miami with a unified Democratic party. What better way can the leaders of our party show to the world a symbol of that unity than by a first ballot nomination for Senator George McGovern."

Tax Help For Seniors Will Be Available

Representatives of the Franchise Tax Board will be in Monterey on Monday, July 10 thru Friday, July 14, to assist California senior citizens in filing claims for benefits under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law. The representatives will be at the City Hall, 570 Pacific Avenue, Room 5, City Council Chamber, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The law provides for a reimbursement of a portion of the property taxes paid by Californians who were residents of this state on or before January 1, 1972, who are over 62 years of age, own and reside in their own homes, who have paid the property taxes for the current year and who have household income of $10,000 or less.

Claimants should bring a copy of the property tax bill for the year 1971-72 and proof of age such as a Medicare Card or birth certificate. Photo copy equipment will be available free of charge to reproduce these documents. If you have rental income or business income it is necessary to have a schedule of the receipts and expenses to attach to your claim. It is recommended that you bring a copy of your Federal Income Tax return for the year 1971 with you. Copies of the Rental or Busines Income Schedules may then be photo copied from the Federal Return.

Claims may be filed now and must be filed before October 15, 1972.

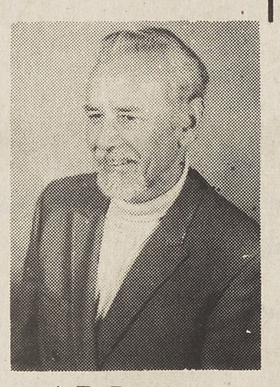
Those needing further information, assistance or forms may telephone or inquire in person at any Franchise Tax Board office. Your nearest branch office in this area is located at 555 North First Street, San Jose, CA 95112. The new telephone number is 998-1540. The office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday to Friday.

Publisher's Report

Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

By Clint Porter
(In the absence of Andy Barragan)



A.E. Barragan

When I first arrived in California quite some years ago, there were no jobs available for the newcomers, or transients. Not wanting to remain a transient, and tired of having no money, I finally enlisted in the now defunct California State Guards. Our main duties were to patrol the various water pipelines snake-hipping over the Sierras and the San Joaquin Valley. The California State Guards, after years of debate and legislative action were finally made a part of the National Guard Unit. Their duties were increased to patrolling residential or business districts of unfortunate cities suffering from one type of disaster or another. All those years, neither the California State Guards nor the National Guards carried loaded pieces (weapons). In fact I was never in an outfit where there was even "live" ammunition available.

Things changed. The National Guards were finally issued ammunition, but with orders to only load on command. The "load on command" orders became more and more laxed until it was normal to load only do not insert a round in the chamber until commanded. Things became even more laxed. Never fire unless ordered. Finally never fire unless fired upon first.

You see the progressiveness from docile to aggression. The Watts Incident. I was there.

THE SALINAS TEEN BOARD

The Emporium Teen Board members serve as a liason between the store and the teenage population in each community. Each girl serves as a special envoy from her school and her town, and takes part in a variety of retail related and community activities during her year of membership.

The Teen Board Advisor in each store selects the girls from those who are nominated by their high schools on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, poise, personal appearance, as well as enthusiasm and interest in her community as well as retailing. The girls must be entering their Senior year in school.

All of the girls participate in monthly meetings, and at least one community or charity project. They participate in special activities in the store including fashion shows, informal modeling, act as hostesses and participate in other special events.

At the monthly meetings the store provides instruction in merchandising through career speakers, grooming workshops, and modeling and fashion instruction. The store also employs Teen Board members for additional sales staff where there are student openings available.

Teen Board representatives who have been selected for the Salinas store are as follows:

Alisal High School: Laura Loomis, Diane Scott, Mary Scott

North Salinas High School: Karen Anders, Pam Fraser, Patricia Pedrozo

Notre Dame High School: Ida Mattelich, Melinda Peters

Salinas High School: Sheryl Leighton, Margaret Reed, Laurel Walter

All eleven girls will be acting as our smiling hostesses on the day of store opening to assist customers in introducing them to the new store.

The Democratic Convention Incident. The Kent state Incident. And the similar, but smaller incidents over the past years. If those kids were never issued the live ammunition in the first place, I am certain things would have dissolved themselves without bloodshed.

Now I see in the papers that a law has just been passed to allow the Park Rangers to carry "law enforcement equipment." A reptile by any other name is still a reptile. Proof: One cold wintery day a lady was going to work. There lying in the snow was a snake half-frozen to death. She felt sorry for the snake and took him home. Placed him by the fire and journeyed on her job. That evening when she came home and opened the door, the snake bit her. She immediately started telling the snake how kind she had been to him, and now she was dying because of her kindness. The snake said to her: "You knew I was a snake when you took me in, now what did you expect me to do?"

How many months, or weeks, or even days will it be before an out-of-town stranger will be "caught" by the Park Ranger with an open fire he did not know was illegal? Or an unsuspecting hitchhiker asleep in his sleeping bag near a "no traspassing" sign? My boss' wife is dreaming of the day when all guns will be outlawed and destroyed. I, for one, cannot foresee that day. When all humans have been killed off, except that one person remaining, you can bet he will be armed.

There will never be total peace in this world because man does not want it. This "man" has to feel superior in order for him to survive. And if who he considers his enemy has a sling shot, he will get a more deadly weapon. And on down the line. An example of that is the arms race between the two great powers of this earth. Each of them has now at least ten times the force it would take to destroy the entire earth. They must dislike each other very badly. As a kid we used to choose sides and have snowball fights. These main events always happened on a Saturday. And sometimes we would get up early in the morning rolling up our "ammunition" until we had a regular fortress. Finnally one team would give the "I-give-up" signal, so we would stop. But that didn't last long because within the group there was always one kid who had to get in the "last" throw. Then the fight would start all over again. So there is always someone who does not want peace. Neither do some of you.

The only time one finds peace, unless he is blissfully happy, is when he sleeps. But when he wakes and comes into the field of thought, speech, and activity, he feels miserable again. If you find peace only in the absence of activity, it is not lasting. Peace obtained by emptying the mind of thought is only gained by the lack of pressure. When the mind returns to the field of thinking and acting it begins to feel the pressures of thought and action. Then he becomes unpeaceful.

There are people who go to great extent to train their mind to turn off. They block out all thoughts and activity. Their mind becomes dull. Those people are blissfully happy at those stages. But their mind is not very efficient. You have to learn peace with an open mind, not through a mind that is closed or turned off. Suppose an important decision was yours to make? Your mind could not stand the strain because you did not train it to do that. This practice could do great damage to the progress of the individual and to society.

My boss, Andy, has found his peace. Not just with himself, but with his fellowman and with God. If he hadn't found peace with God he wouldn't have been able to accomplish the things he has accomplished. He couldn't have found this peace with "law enforcement equipment." This peace had to have come from within. The law enforcers will never find peace just because each of them has passed an examination certifying them as knowing how to shoot.

When Jesus was doing his travelings over the land He encountered a blind man. He touched him and asked him what he saw. He said he saw men walking around as trees. He touched him for the second time and the man could see men as men are.

Do you think most of us need the "second touch?"

SEASIDE'S NEW POST OFFICE SITE

On June 8, 1972 the following telegram was sent to Postmaster General Klassen, Washington, D.C:

"Inordinate amount of time has elapsed since Postal Service acquired real estate for new Post Office site in this City of 36,200 population. Our present Post Office site is totally inadequate, causing unjustified congestion, parking and safety hazards for the public in general. We urgently need a new Post Office and solicit your assistance in expediting this matter." B. J. Dolan, Jr., Mayor, City of Seaside.

On June 16, 1972 the following reply was received:

"Dear Mayor Dolan:
Postmaster General E. T. Klassen has asked me to acknowledge and thank you for your recent telegram concerning the status of postal construction at Seaside.

As you may know, the Postal Service has acquired an option on land in Seaside which was due to expire. The former San Francisco Region advised the purchase of this land for the eventual construction of a postal facility. The option, therefore, was exercised and the land purchased through our real estate and construction agent, the Corps of Engineers.

Since postal reorganization last year, the new Western Region has not recommended action on this project because they determined it is not as critical as others in the Region. Consequently, Seaside was not in the fiscal 1972 construction program, nor is it in the fiscal 1973 program.

Our construction emphasis at this time is necessarily on major mail handling installations, such as the Bulk Mail System currently under development. In view of this fact, it is essential that priorities be established for smaller offices to allow us to make maximum use of our resources.

The size of the Seaside Post Office is not expected to exceed 13,000 square feet. Smaller construction projects such as this will be delegated to the regions at a future date, and I understand that the Western Region plans to bring this project to the attention of their Capital Investment Committee for action at an early date after the delegation is made.

I hope this will help to explain the current status of the project, and am sorry it is not possible for me to give a more definite reply.

Sincerely yours,
Michael Popowski III
Director of Community Programs"

The above would tend to indicate that we will not have a new Post Office before 1975! However, this is unacceptable and we will continue our efforts to have a new Post Office not later than 1973.

BUDGETS AND TAX RATES

will be in the news and will be given a great deal of coverage during the next month.

All Counties, School Districts, Cities and other political agencies are experiencing the same general problems...how to provide the necessary services desired by the public and still keep property tax rates within limits which property owners can afford to pay. (People who rent homes and apartments also have a great concern in this matter as increases in property taxes are passed on to them by property owners in the form of rental increases).

The preliminary budget for the County of Monterey was presented to the Board of Supervisors a few days ago and the date of July 10th has been set for the first day of our study sessions. These sessions will be carried on thru the month of July and probably six to eight full days of study will be set aside by the Board for this purpose.

The proposed budget presented to the Supervisors in it's preliminary form is some $2.7 million higher than the previous year at roughly $56 million. When we mention the total budget figure of $56 million, this represents over 50% in Welfare and public assistance. Approximately 75% of Welfare costs are paid by State and Federal funds so only about 25% of the Welfare costs falls on the property owner.

Another large item in the Budget which comes out of Federal and State gas tax monies is the County Road Department's costs. This alone amounts to over 8 million dollars and therefore is not a direct charge to the local property tax payer.

Salaries for employees is always a controversial item. However, the property tax payer is only required to support about 40% of this cost. The other 60% comes out of State and Federal funds so when the news media reports that employees salaries have increased 1.35 million dollars, it should be remembered that only 40% of this salary increase will be a direct cost to the local property owners.

The point which I have been trying to emphasize is that when the total County budget is presented as $56 million, the local property taxpayer is only footing the bill for approximately 20 million dollars of the total cost and the remaining $36 million is provided by Federal, State, and other tax sources.

One other point is very important and that is that during the budget study the Board of Supervisors will examine every request for money with great care to see that all unnecessary costs are eliminated. The budget sessions are open to the public and we welcome comments from our constituents who are interested in listening to and taking part in these discussions.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

Cigarette smoking should be prohibited in the United States. Not because it causes cancer, heart problems, emphysema, etcetera. If someone wants to destroy their only body that way it should be thier Constitutional right, whatever that is. But smoking should be prohibited because it is so confounded inefficient - a disgrace to American scientific development and ingenuity.

A few years ago I advanced a new method for transfering tobacco tar from tobacco to lung tissues. About 1967 in an article in Saturday Review I suggested that all tobacco be burned at the cigarette factories and the smoke then compressed into push-button cans like the standard fly spray cans. A person addicted to tobacco who just had to have a puff of cigarette smoke could carry such a can, and when no one was looking could attach an adapter to the can, put the adapter in his mouth, hold his nose and then push the button.

Those who like a hot smoke or a cool or flavored smoke could buy adapters to suit, with battery powered heating coils to provide heat, and for convenience in carrying, the cans should be flat like the old Prince Albert cans, with Chinese proverbs or recipes printed on them.

The U.S. Forest Service would welcome such a system because of the reduced fire hazard, and of course the efficiency would be a good selling point, since no valuable smoke would be wasted as is the case now where a person will light a cigarette and not keep puffing on it continuously. Every bit of the smoke could enter the lungs where it could do the most good.

The U.S. Agriculture Dept. has just announced that about five hundred ninety-seven billion cigarettes will be smoked in the U.S. this year, about 2 percent above last year, and about 6 percent above the previous year, so things are looking up for the undertaking business. And speaking of looking up, if you were to put all those cigarettes end to end with cigarette glue they could reach out into space 38 million miles, could make 80 round trips to the moon, and if laid side by side in a band around the earth the band would be roughly thirty feet wide and would of course be called Tobacco Road, but naturally would be of no practically value where it got soaking wet crossing the various oceans.

And if you had enough glue left, and if you could find all the cigarette butts that are normally thrown away, and glued them all together, you would have one big butt about 8 million miles long, so you can see how inefficient our present system really is. And for those who are ecology minded I should mention that the cans would not be discarded when empty. They could be refilled several times until the tobacco tar finally made the valve useless and corroded the inside of the can, or until the owner of each can finally got so corroded inside he decided to chew gum for a pastime.

THE DISCOVERY OF SEASIDE...And Other Thougts

Don't let the headline fool you. I'm not going to try to write the history of the founding of Our Town. This column is all about MY discovery of this quaint, potentially-great community.

When I first saw the Monterey Peninsula, just eight months ago, I had already grown tired of breathing the smog of Southern California, and had made a vow to discover a place where my offspring, now 8 and 10 years of age respectively, could breathe the first clean air of their lives.

First, I saw Carmel, where I had been invited by Susan Keane, a young friend of long standing, to help celebrate the opening of her art gallery. The storybook charm of that little village was enough to win me over. But then, I went to Old Monterey, where I walked the Path of History and saw where the first state government of California had its beginning. I saw Cannery Row, and found that, though it was different from what Steinbeck saw there, it was still unique in its own way. Still the rallying point for the defiant souls among us. On historic Fisherman's Wharf, the shops fascinated the whole family, and the old Custom House made everything complete, for it lies almost in the shadow of the majectic Presidio, whose name even now conjures up visions of Spanish, Mexican and American fighting men who have guarded the rocky approaches to Monterey Bay for centuries.

On the last day of that first visit, I drove through Seaside. I must admit that I did not actually "discover" it until later. However, on that first day, a warm September afternoon, I did notice one thing: nobody was uptight! Man, if you've ever lived in Los Angeles, you know what I mean. When we left the car, for a short walk, people driving by would wave to us and when we met them on the sidewalk, they spoke to us. Driving along Fremont and Del Monte, we were impressed to find that drivers were not changing lanes, trying to get ahead of all other cars, as they do in Angeltown. We discovered a mixture of humanity that could hardly be improved upon, if one wishes to see a microcosm of America.

In January of this year, I succumbed to the lure of the rocky shoreline, the friendly temperature and the relaxed pace of life that the Peninsula offers. I opted to give my children their chance at life almost as I knew it as a boy in Tuskegee, Alabama. It was only then that I really discovered Seaside.

I arrived in the midst of the MPUSD School Board election campaign. I was impressed very favorably by the participation of people from all racial backgrounds. I was impressed also by the absence of racism and radicalism on the parts of the candidates. Both impressions were enhanced by the fact that the bitterness on the part of the loser in each election was evident only to the degree one expects after any election. I have seen what racism can do to a community and I felt that Seaside deserved better than what we experienced in Los Angeles' last mayoralty election.

I visited the Seaside Chamber of Commerce as the guest of Cecil Bindel, and was so impressed with the sincerity and dedication of the officers and active membership that I joined the next week.

I guess what I'm trying to say, friend, is that I'm TURNED ON!

Seaside has a long way to go before it reaches the point where it can serve as an ideal place for all of its residents to live. But so has every other place in the world. The encouraging thing about Seaside is that it is being done. Step by step, block by block, you will begin to see changes. I know, because I've looked into the faces of the people who ar going to do it. And I hope to be one of them. Want to Join us?

OTHER THOUGHTS

Since Istarted this column with a curve ball of sorts, I got to thinking about history. I wonder how many readers of the POST could qualify as Black Historians? What do your children know about the contributions made by Black Americans to the great nation we now live in? And what about other ethnic groups? Fil-Americans, Chicanos, Italian-Americans...the list of omitted or ignored heroes goes on and on. Try these on for size:

Los Angeles was founded by forty-four persons, of whom twenty-six were of African ancestry. Of the rest, only two were Caucasian. The others were either Indian or Indian-Caucasian. A woman whose black grandparents were among the founders of Los Angeles owned a parcel of land called "Rancho de Las Aguas." Today, this parcel is called Beverly Hills. Francisco Reyes, another Black Californian, owned the entire San Fernando Valley. He sold the land and later became mayor of Los Angeles.

Through the exploits of John Wayne, James Steward, Gary Cooper and other movie cowboys, the people in the motion picture industry have been telling and retelling the story of the West for years. A new crop that emerged in the last ten or twelve years include James Arness, Lorne Greene and James Drury. These actors and the stories they appear in afford good entertainment for those who find such things enjoyable. However, as history, they are, for the most part, not worth watching. Older readers will recall the name of Tom Mix. Still others will remember the rope tricks of Will Rogers. But did you ever hear of Bill Pickett? I thought not.

Bill Pickett has been described by those who knew him as "the greatest sweat and dirt cowhand that ever lived...bar none." Bill Pickett was Black. He traveled with a rodeo show that included some of the best performers in the history of that peculiarly Western pastime. Pickett is credited with "inventing" the art of "bulldogging."

PARTY TIME - McDonald's Hamburger Employees had beach party recently, which could be called great success. There was plenty of food, fruit and soft drinks. Everyone participated in entertainment, mainly by taking turns on conga drums and singing.

Work on State Parks

"When we go back, we're going to tell everyone how hard we worked and when the next project comes up we can all volunteer again."

This was the attitude of the men of Comapny D, 4th Battalion, 1st Brigade, after finishing work on a state park project.

Captain Louie Buck, Company D's commanding officer, took 30 volunteers from his 2nd week basic training company to San Juan Bautista State Park to help put up a fence for a fiesta.

"This was the first project Company D has been on. It was in the planning stage for about six weeks," he said.

"We finished building the fence by noon. Then the trainees had a small picnic and toured the Mission," the Captain added.

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell

ARMY RECRUITER

Hellow everyone. The government, through extensive studies, has made predictions of employment growth within industries. Computers, Medical and Educational Service, Electronic Components, Service Industries and Material Handling are job areas that will show very high rates of growth in employment by 1980. These trends indicate that technology will continue to be an increasingly dominant factor in American Life. They also demonstrate that persons entering the job market will require more specialized training than ever before. Right now, the Military serves as the likely answer to many of the nation's training needs. A report published recently the the Teachers College of Columbia University reveals that the Armed Forces provides one of the most comprehensive and advanced educational systems in the world. In many ways, it has outstripped the nation's colleges and universities in educating American Youth. In fact, its primary business today is education.

In the U.S. Army, one can choose his or her training or vocation before enlisting, and receive guaranteed training in the field he or she selects. Because of the large investment in time and resources, the Army is as concerned as American industry about getting the right man for the right jobs. This is particularly true now that it is converting to a volunteer force. Counselors in the Army today work closely with enlistees to help them plan a meaningful future. Most young men and women beginning their Army careers are discourage from training for job specialties that might quickly become obsolete. If they qualify, they are urged to ente programs in fields where there are projected growth and increasing opportunities.

The following persons were enlisted in the U.S. Army for month of June. Alfred Adams, 3103 Pleasant Circle, Marina; Charles Burroughs, 19 Work Ave., Del Rey Oaks; Carlos Lopez, 183 Corregidor Rd., Fort Ord; Charles Olsen, 1103 Sunnhill Court, Seaside and John Santiago, 304 Malmedy Rd., Fort Ord, just to name a few.

If you are without a job and would like to receive technical training in a field of your choice while being paid, contact us at 432 Webster St., Monterey or call 372-4742/372-0553 and lets talk about it.

Watch Out For Rabid Animals

A rabid bat, proved positive by laboratory examination, was found struggling in a Carmel swimming pool last weekend. In rescuring the drowning bat the property owner was betten on the finger, and is now under treatment to prevent rabies.

This incident, according to dr. R.S. Fraser, Director of Public Health, points out two important facts about rabies which Monterey County residents should bare in mind:

1. Never take any chances with any wild creature which appears to be tame or injured. (Bates, skunks, and foxes are the species most likely to be harboring rabies.)

2. Although the incidence of rabies in Monterey County has been relatively low for the past few years, it is an insidious disease which can occur anytime in most any area.

Even though only few cases of wild animals with rabies come to our attention it is quite likely there are many cases occuring in rural areas which escape detection. Once an animal develops the symptoms it soon dies, but he may have spread it to others before dying thus perpetuating it in the wild state.

Dr. Fraser also advises summer campers to avoid sleeping directly on the ground. A cot or bed, off the ground sleeping arrangements, should be provided.

Chance For Boy Scouts To Go to Jamborees

Boy Scouts in this area have the choice of attending a western or eastern National Jamboree in August of 1973, it was announced by Hank White, Jamboree Chairman for the Monterey Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Jamboree West will be held at Farragut State Park, Idaho, August 1 to 7 and Jamboree East will be held at Moraine State Park, Pennsylvania, August 3 to 9. Any registered Scout is eligible to attend a Jamboree.

A chartered Scout Troop can register for either of the two Jamborees if they have a minimum of four Scouts and a Scoutmaster. There is no maximum chartered troop size. Troops may select their own tour and will arrange for their own transportation and equipment.

Plans are being made by the local council to organize a provisional troop for Jamboree West whereby the council will arrange for leadership, transportation and equipment.

It is expected that 35,000 Scouts and leaders from the entire country will attend each of the Jamborees. Preliminary reservations for troops planning to attend are now being received at the Council Office, 55 San Joaquin Street, Salinas.

Members of the Jamboree Committee include Robert Moger, Sam Jenkinson and Burnett Hartsook of Salinas; Fred Klamm, Lynn Davis, Pacific Grove; Richard Fellows, Gonzales; Frank Masamori and Don Kassler of Santa Cruz; Jim Buell, San Ardo; Eldon Roth of Watsonville and Cleve Williams, Seaside.
